About this site

Hello,

I'm Maxwell, and this is Mundane Meme, my weird blogging site.

I mostly post solutions (that are honestly a little scuffed) to some of the Euler Problems, but I'm hoping to populate this website with more content... really just for my own enjoyment/posterity.

If you are curious about this blog software, it is running Bookstack, which is really supposed to be documentation type software... I've used it at work, I like it, and it is easy enough to write and organize in, so that's why I use it. There are probably better blog specific softwares, but this fits my needs nicely.

Thank you,
Maxwell
